

Custom Chroming

The items listed on this website are the chrome compression fittings we keep in stock. All of our compression fittings and brassware can be chrome plated on request. We also offer a custom chroming service for almost all metal products. We have helped Property Developers bring antique fittings back up to modern day standards, designers working in copper who wanted their finished work chromed and even some car enthusiasts who wanted engine parts to look extra bright.

As each of these type of jobs is unique please contact us with more information about your project including photographs where possible.
